"Animals around the world
are subverting death in unprecedented numbers,
apparently due to the emergence of trained animal medics"

They say "animals" but it's really just mammals.

I hate to play devil's advocate, Sam, but couldn't this really mess up the ecosystem?

Not my department, George.

Without all those mammals to worry about I can focus on being a better reaper and a better employee, you know?

Fair enough.

I even have time for hobbies again!
